& so they keep the knowledge of ~~[illegible]~~. Here comes Ann, she has been putting G. to sleep — he is as good as a saint — & loves to go in his crib. She sends a great deal of love to you again & again, & indeed I would fill up the letter with it. She is talking to me now, in Lucius' room, is delighted that you are having a double dress made for her! Fanny & she think you take the care of these children too hard — & yet how they would get on without you, I don't know. I am going to see what Lucius needs, & will let you know, if any thing you can do. He is very well off for a great many things. I procured him 2 pr of good, nice woollen socks at Springfield & a nice Pocket handkerchief. He was well fitted last winter ^& has not worn all out yet & now needs those very things — good, warm.
