Pierre Laclede Liguest founded the City of Saint Louis as a trading post in 1764. It was built by a party of 30 men from New Orleans under the supervision of Auguste Chouteau, Laclede's fourteen year old step-son.

It was named Saint Louis in honor of King Louis XV of France and his patron saint, Louis IX.

Letter from Edward Bates, U.S. District Attorney, to the Attorney General, seeking advice as to how to proceed in the matter of Spanish land grants in Missouri and Arkansas.

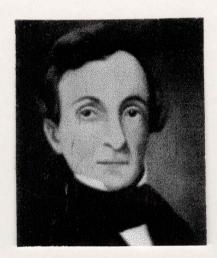

Edward was the brother of Missouri's Governor Frederick Bates. In later life he served as Lincoln's Attorney General.

The "T" of the old territorial townmark was beginning to reappear as early as 1824.

THOMAS HART BENTON

1 8 2 9

A letter written and signed by Senator Thomas Hart Benton on August 11, 1829. It is addressed to a newspaper publisher in Mississippi, asking that his essay on the South Western boundary of the United States be published:

"There is a movement on this subject, and if you feel as I do, of which I have no doubt, your anxiety must be extreme to remove that foreign boundary which is now parallel to your west and approaches so near to it. Legislative memorials, or resolutions, condemning the treaty of 1819, and recommending the re-acquisition of the country thrown away, will have a good effect...."

While Benton had the franking privilege while Congress was in session, this letter was written between the setting of the 20th and 21st Congresses, requiring postage of 25¢ plus a forwarding fee of 12 ½¢. Since Benton did not prepay the postage, it was charged to the recipient.
