

1894

Prince Henry

Portugal's first commemoratives, honoring the 500th Anniversary of the birth of Prince Henry the Navigator (Dom Henrique) were on sale, and valid, for only ten days—March 4-13, 1894—and only in district administrative capitals. The profits from their sale, approximately $30,000, were used to erect a monument.

Designed by José Veloso Salgado; printed by Giesecke and Devrient, Leipzig 5 to 100 reis values lithographed in sheets of 100, 150 to 1000r recess-engraved, sheets of 25. All printed on lozenge-web paper, perf 14. Colors identical to the current definitive series, as required by the UPU regulations.

A special commemorative canceller was made for the ten days of validity. Twelve of the thirteen values below bear this cancel, the 1000 reis a normal cancel of Porto - March 4, 1894 - first day of issue.

Printed: 5 to 100 reis - 500,000 each, 150 to 1000 reis - 30,000 each

Originally planned for 1897, the 400th anniversary of da Gama's departure, delays caused issue of this third set of Portuguese commemorative to be April 1, 1898, the anniversary of da Gama's arrival in India. They circulated for three months to the exclusion of regular issues, the profits to be used for construction of a monument in Lisboa. Unfortunately, sales barely covered expenses, and the remainders were either burned, or overprinted in 1911.

Designs were the result of a 1895 contest for which fifteen artists submitted a total of 45 designs. Recess-engraved and printed in sheets of 100 by Waterlow & Sons, London. Perforated 12½ to 16*

D. MANUEL II

King 1 Feb 1908 - 4 October 1910

Manuel, an 18 year old naval cadet, became king upon the assassination of his father D. Carlos I and older brother Luis Filipe February 1, 1908. His reign lasted 32 months until the Republic was proclaimed, when he was exiled to England, where he lived peacefully in Twickenham until his death in 1932. He left no heirs. →
