PHONOGRAPHY is the art of writing by sound. It is as legible as the common long hand, and can be written six times as fast. It may be learned in a few months, and at once introduced into the business of life. To persons who have writing to do, it is a great labor-saving art, enabling them to write in one hour that which would require six hours in the common hand, in one day that which would require six days, in one month that which would require six months, and in one year that which would require six years.

To Persons who do not understand PHONOGRAPHY.
 By enclosing one dollar in a letter, and directing it to FOWLERS AND WELLS, No. 131 Nassau street, New York, you will receive, by return of mail, aids from which you can acquire a thorough knowledge of Phonography, without oral or other instruction.

PHONOGRAPHY

Phonetic Printing. 20

Four thousand years have passed away since the first rude alphabet was constructed. It was reserved for the present age to witness the completion of an Anglo-American Alphabet, by means of which language is philosophically represented, the acquirement of reading rendered a pastime instead of a toil, and by which the correctness and distinctness of pronunciation, characteristic of the best educated speakers, will be universally diffused. SIR JOHN HERSCHHELL declared the attainment of such an alphabet to be one of the great desiderata at which mankind ought to aim by common consent. We now possess it. Some of the leading instructors in this country pronounce the Phonetic System to be one of the most important educational auxiliaries ever devised.

"SIMPLE."

"It enables the pupil to read Phonetically in one tenth of the time ordinarily employed, and to read the common type in one fourth of the time necessary according to the usual mode of instruction, and leads to the correct pronunciation of every word."---MASSACHUSETTS SENATE REPORT.

"CHILD'S DELIGHT."

"RELIABLE."

"As an instrument for the promotion of education, we regard the advent of the Phonetic System as second only in importance to the invention of Printing itself."---YORK (Eng.) JOURNAL.

It may be written six times as fast as the ordinary longhand, and is equally legible; and such is the simplicity of the art that its principles may be easily mastered, even without the aid of a teacher.

FONOTIPI is a rational system of spelling words as they are pronounced, by employing an enlarged alphabet containing a separate letter for each sound, by which means the drudgery of learning to spell is entirely dispensed with, and learning to read is accomplished in wondrously short time.
